

CTP Davall is a technical precision injection moulding solutions business, which brings together CTP Davall and CTP Davall Scotland. It operates under the umbrella of Carclo Technical Plastics, a division of Carclo plc. It is one of the largest, most experienced and innovative designers and suppliers of high tolerance polymer gears in the world.

The creation of CTP Davall brings strong synergistic benefits of technical experience and expertise, toolmaking capability, and 24 hour, 7 day precision manufacturing. Strong engineering capabilities in the fields of precision technical moulding, polymer gear design and high-level assembly ensures CTP Davall has the product to match the most demanding customer needs.

Our focus on cleanliness, efficient production and our strategic locations provide the basis for our service and support operations, which underpin the design and manufacturing capability of the Group.
